A Dedicated QIDSS that Drives the Expansion of Digital Health Solutions in Primary Care: From Development to Implementation & From One Local Organization to Across the Province

Denis is an innovative leader dedicated to the promotion of digital and technological maturity at 7+ family health teams (FHT) across the GTA since 2017. Started at a local FHT in Western York Region OHT, he served as a Registered Dietitian and QIDSS to support patient care and team-based primary care operation with his clinical experience and technological knowledge in several digital health solutions and EMR systems. Between 2019 and 2022, Denis held a QIDS Manager position and supported multiple FHTs located in 4 OHTs within the Ontario Toronto Region in advancing patient care and clinical workflows with different EMR-integrated digital health products. In 2022, he transitioned to a Senior Quality Improvement Specialist role at Ontario Health and facilitated the development of Evidence2Practice in the capacity of a Topic Expert Group member. Recently, Denis has accepted the QI and Innovation Program Manager position at the Department of Family & Community Medicine of the University of Toronto.
